Merchants offering 2008 burgundies

16 Jan 2010 by Jancis Robinson

This is peak time for burgundy offers in the UK with thousands of 2008s, many of them spread between several different merchants. The following is a list of those merchants we know of who are making 2008 burgundy offers, but do please feel free to add more in the comments box below.

The merchants are listed in alphabetical offer by (sur)name. We have given an address only for one of the less well known merchants. See our Where to buy section in the Resources section for full contact details.

Purple pagers can find our tasting notes on a very significant proportion of these wines, more than 1,000, via the tasting notes search and, very soon, via a series of tasting articles with producers listed alphabetically. The Wine Society will presumably be making an offer but for the moment are touting their Clearance sale of 2006 burgundy, which may well be worth looking at as they admit they overbought.
