Germany 2011 - the guide

26 Jun 2012 by Tamlyn Currin

Described by Michael Schmidt as 'a vintage which will be up there with the greats of recent decades', we'll be amassing more than a few articles on Germany 2011 over the coming weeks including Julia's tasting notes on Howard Ripley's tasting. You'll find the links to all the articles below, with the most recent first.

Germany's 2011s - Rheinhessen (Tasting articles) 24 July 2012

Bernkasteler Ring - 100 more tasting notes (Tasting articles) 11 July 2012

Non VDP Riesling - Spätlese and Auslese (Tasting articles) 5 July 2012

Non VDP Riesling - feinherb and Kabinett (Tasting articles) 4 July 2012

Non-VDP Riesling - entry-level and premium trocken (Tasting articles) 3 July 2012

Germany's 2011s c/o Howard Ripley (Tasting articles) 2 July 2012

VDP 2011s - Mosel, Saar & Ruwer (Tasting articles) 26 June 2012

VDP 2011s - Nahe, Rheingau & Rheinhessen (Tasting articles) 25 June 2012

VDP 2011s - Pfalz & Franken (Tasting articles) 21 June 2012

Germany's 2011s - truly exceptional (Inside information) 12 June 2012

Germany’s 2011 – a vintage of the century? (Inside information) 2 November 2011

Sweet teen record in Germany (Free for all) 26 October 2011

Postcards from Germany 2011 (Inside information) 10 October 2011

Rain and hail plague vintage 2011 (Inside information) 29 August 2011

Vintage 2011 - precocious? (Free for all) 1 August 2011

TO COME

Grosses Gewächs - full report (Tasting articles in September 2012)