A new service for WSET students

12 Aug 2012 by Jancis Robinson

Sean Welch is a recent WSET Diploma graduate who wrote to me recently to explain how useful his Purple Pages membership had been when he was studying. Among the course materials are the Study Guides, which have lists of pver 2,000 entries in the Oxford Companion to Wine which students are recommended to read and retain. At the moment these lists are available only in print but, like many WSET students, Sean was travelling frequently in the months leading up to the exam, so he found it useful to arm himself with a series of links to the corresponding entries in the online version of OCW that is available exclusively to members of Purple Pages here at JancisRobinson.com.

Our online version, incidentally, is the most up-to-date that there is since it is based on the most recent, third edition of this classic reference work but incorporates many (generally minor) updates that are not in the printed work. Sean, by the way, has the full co-operation of both the WSET and the JancisRobinson.com team in this enterprise.

Sean passed his Diploma exam in January and is now generously allowing other WSET Diploma students to take advantage of the work he put in devising these pages of links. The links for the Study Guides Units 3, 5 and 6 can now be accessed on his wine blog drunk.com here.

I just hope that the link has not been hijacked by a porn site, as it was for a few unfortunate hours on Friday…
