

Consumers demand English wine

26 Apr 2010 by Jancis Robinson

Last Friday the English Wine Producers held their annual St George's Day tasting. The turnout was impressive and even included Frenchwoman Isabelle Bachelet, who writes for La Revue du Vin de France. In this very short film, the super-efficient organiser of the EWP Julia Trustram Eve explains why she thinks so many more trade buyers are interested in English wine.