

Antique vineyard and cellar equipment for sale

27 Jul 2006 by JR

I was recently sent this email from someone selling wine- related artefacts. I cannot vouch for the quality, prices or delivery, but I thought it might be of interest to some wine collectors too.

Dear Grower,

I sell antique vineyard and wine cellar equipment, mainly to collectors but also to a few small vineyards who display the items in their wine- tasting area to add interest and ambiance!

I tend to deal mainly in the smaller items because of the cost of postage and transport but I can in fact lay hands on almost any item given time.

If you think that the idea of displaying a few such items could add interest to your place you might like to look at the type of thing that I am selling at the moment on Ebay.

Go to Ebay.com

- 1 Click the Advanced Search link located at the top of most eBay pages.
- 2 On the left side of the page under Search, click the 'Items by Seller' link.
- 3 Enter the seller/ user ID 'chrispascal'
- 4 Click on the shop (highlighted in blue) or the box on the right 'Items for Sale'
- 5 If you click on the shop then you will have a list of different items on the left
- 6 Click on first item for vineyard tools and the second for wine cellar equipment.

If you are interested please contact me by email with any questions/ queries and I will do my best to help.

Chris Baur
10 rue du Peintre Lebrun
78000 Versailles
France
piechaud.baur@wanadoo.fr