- Oxford Companion to Wine 3rd edition The world's only online version of this multi award-winning reference book that Eric Asminov of New York Times calls "a magisterial 813-page encyclopedia of just about everything a wine lover could ever want to know"

What the press has to say:

"Britain's Jancis Robinson has been called the Julia Child of wine. An internationally renowned wine writer and TV-show host... Robinson's advice is impeccable, her wit dry and her take on wine refreshingly non-American." – Time magazine, Jan 19, 2007

"Although it isn't officially a blog, it is updated so regularly (when does she sleep?) that it might as well be." - Richard Ehrlich, Independent on Sunday, Oct 2006

"The single best site on the web for wine information. Her lucid essays offer a straightforward snapshot of the wider world of the grape." - Doug Frost MS MW, KansasCity.com, May 2, 2007

"I would not miss purple pages for anything" Nigel Blundell, UK wine importer (member since 2003)

"I value the unique possibility of getting Jancis Robinson's personal view and her personal feedback. It would be the same as getting Freud's feedback on Psychology!"

Rodrigo Mainardi, Brazil (member since 2002)
