

Calling all Australians

26 Sep 2007 by JR

We have long benefited from the input of Australian members of our purple pages but have not until now been able to offer subscriptions in Australian dollars.

In response to public demand, as they say, this has changed and we are now offering subscriptions not just in pounds, US dollars and euros but also in Australian dollars. We hope this will encourage even more Australian wine lovers to join our lively and ever-rewarding community.

We freely admit we are based in the UK and therefore cannot claim an Australian bias, but we try to cover Australian wines and wine news pretty well and can claim to have broken not a few news stories thanks to our contacts. Below is a selection of articles about God's Own.
