

Oxford search working again

26 Nov 2007 by JR

This site was apparently moved to a bigger, better server fairly late on Friday afternoon. Too late, unfortunately, for news that the much-used search function of the Oxford Companion to Wine had been left behind to filter through before the technicians went home for the weekend. We thank the many of you who were kind enough to bring this to our attention.

It is now working once again. Many apologies to all. And very best of luck to those who are writing dissertations or studying for wine exams.